

Holiday Rentals in Cape Town : Paddle for smiles

One man, a coastline and a kayak in support of charity.

South Africa, Republic of, Nov 01, 2011 -- Richard Kohler, a kayak enthusiast, will be tackling 2 600km of coastline from 1 December 2011 to raise funds for to the Cipla Miles for Smiles Foundation. The foundations was formed to assist Operation Smile in creating awareness about the plight of children born with cleft lips and palates and raising funds to perform corrective surgery. Kohler is a solo kayaker from Cape Town (for more info on Cape Town or for accommodation to witness the feat, check out <http://rentalsincapetown.com/>)

This feat, which will see Kohler paddling around 50kn per day is a first-ever attempt that will keep him in the water between 5 and 10 hours every day. According to Kohler, this feat will be the first, solo, unbroken paddle around the coast of South Africa. He will set off from the Mozambique border on 1 December, and the journey will culminate once he reaches the Namibian border.
